CALL FOR PROPOSALS

SIXTH ANNUAL CURATORS' INCUBATOR PROGRAM

EXTENDED APPLICATION DEADLINE

Hand-Delivered or Postmarked: Friday, January 18, 2007

Baltimore, MD—Maryland Art Place (MAP) is proud to announce a call for proposals for the Sixth Annual Curators' Incubator. This annual program remains dedicated to promoting the talent of new and emerging curators within our community—recognizing the obstacles that face curators as they work to gain experience, while providing encouragement and guidance through the complete curatorial process.

Participating curators will gain experience and significant exposure through the development of their proposed exhibitions. Successful completion of a two-phase application process will result in candidates being selected to mount an exhibition and contribute their curatorial writings in a published catalogue. The exhibition is scheduled to take place September 16 - October 25, 2008. Candidates are invited to submit a completed application as described on the attached form, no later than Friday, January 18, 2007.

A small number of curatorial semi-finalists (comprised of either individual curators or curatorial teams) will be selected, with the expectation that curators meet with MAP's staff and Programming Advisory Committee to provide more in-depth detail about their intentions and goals. Curatorial finalists will fully develop their exhibition and publication materials and present their proposals to the Committee for final consideration in spring 2008.
